

RDM GPS

A Research Data Management (RDM) Bulletin
by NTU RDM Group

NTU Recognised for Advancing Open Science

UNESCO

NTU has been recognised by UNESCO for championing open science. Starting with the NTU Open Research Awards in 2022, the initiative expanded into the Singapore Open Research Awards in 2024, transitioning into a national-level event involving all six local universities.

Together, we aim to accelerate discovery and innovation through greater data transparency, enhance reproducibility in research, and trust in research.

LEARN MORE

Data Storage Solution in NTU

Dropbox Advanced

For NTU Users

Dropbox Advanced offers you everything you know and like about Dropbox.

Designed for team sharing, it offers more storage, enhanced security features, and improved admin controls.

This solution supports efficient collaboration while safeguarding research and institutional data.

»More info on NTU's Research Data Storage Finder

Need Access to Health Research Data?

TRUST

TRUST is Singapore's national platform for secure, anonymised health-related research data.

Applying for TRUST membership or requesting data access?

Click here for the step-by-step process guide.

Submission Deadline: 1st of every month

Questions? Email rso-rdm@ntu.edu.sg

Stay tuned for the next RDM GPS to learn more!

If you have any queries or wish to subscribe to RDM GPS, please write to us at rdm@ntu.edu.sg.

Refer to RDM website for more information on Research Data Management in NTU.