

HL 2043 Fantasy Literature

Semester 2, AY2024-2025

Instructor: Kevin Teo

Course Description

This course seeks to instill in you an understanding of the development of the genre of modern fantasy literature, and of the generic distinctions and theoretical frameworks commonly applied to it. In addition to the predominantly nineteenth-, twentieth- and twenty-first century texts themselves, the course will explore the modern fantasy genre as a product of histories of ideas stretching from centuries past to the present day. With a syllabus spanning from medievalism to modernity via magic, the course welcomes all students interested in exploring the broad genre of fantasy, and the imaginative processes and ideological traditions thereof. In addition to exploring the farthest reaches of the literary imagination, you will also gain—paradoxical though it may seem—an understanding of how these authors and texts negotiate universal themes relating to the realities of human existence, including childhood and youth culture, myth-making, modernisation and the environment, gender and disability, and systems of belief.

Course Content

Each week, we will read excerpts from one or two texts closely. Please refer to the planned weekly schedule below for the list of key topics.

Historical fantasy

High fantasy

Children's fantasy

Utopian Fictions

Modernity and Low Fantasy

Assessment (includes both continuous and summative assessment)

Continuous Assessment 1 (CA1) Mid-term Essay - 40%:

This extended essay must defend an original thesis about one of the texts read in class and engage with the socio-cultural and historical contexts of the fantasy genre. Marks are awarded for knowledge and understanding; originality; close reading; engagement with secondary criticism; structure; presentation; style and expression; grammar and spelling; referencing and bibliography. The mid-term essay assesses the work done over the semester and demonstrates your skills in literary analysis.

Continuous Assessment 2 (CA2) Final Essay - 40%:

This extended essay must defend an original thesis about two of the texts read in class – which cannot be by the author written on in the first essay – and engage with the socio-cultural and historical contexts of the fantasy genre. Marks are awarded for knowledge and understanding; originality; close reading; engagement with secondary criticism; structure; presentation; style and expression; grammar and spelling; referencing and bibliography. The final essay marks the culmination of all the work done over the semester and demonstrates your skills in literary analysis.

Continuous Assessment 3 (CA3) Participation - 10%:

This component will be based on participating in class discussions, in the form of responding to points put forward by teacher or classmates.

Continuous Assessment 4 (CA4) Presentation - 10%:

The oral presentation, approximately ten minutes in length, will explore an assigned facet of the text(s) being read that week, demonstrating an understanding of the fantasy dynamics within the texts and their relation to the broader genre. Marks are awarded for knowledge and understanding; originality; close reading; engagement with secondary criticism; structure and presentation.

Formative feedback

Written feedback on essays will be given when I return your essays to you, and feedback on presentations will be. Feedback from me and your peers generated during in-class discussions will also be helpful to check your understanding of prescribed works.

Course Policies and Student Responsibilities

(1) General

You are expected to complete all assigned pre-class readings and response papers. You will attend all seminar classes punctually. If you must miss a seminar session, you are responsible for following up with course notes, assignments and course related announcements. Since engagement is one of the assessment components, you are expected to participate actively in all seminar discussions and activities.

(2) Absenteeism

Attendance will be taken each week. Absence from class without a valid reason can affect your course grade significantly. Valid reasons include falling sick supported by a medical certificate and participation in NTU's approved activities supported by an excuse letter from the relevant bodies. If you must miss a seminar, you must inform me (the course instructor) via email prior to the start of the class.

Academic Integrity

Good academic work depends on honesty and ethical behaviour. The quality of your work as a student relies on adhering to the principles of academic integrity and to the NTU Honour Code, a set of values shared by the whole university community. Truth, Trust and Justice are at the core of NTU's shared values.

As a student, it is important that you recognize your responsibilities in understanding and applying the principles of academic integrity in all the work you do at NTU. Not knowing what is involved in maintaining academic integrity does not excuse academic dishonesty. You need to actively equip yourself with strategies to avoid all forms of academic dishonesty, including plagiarism, academic fraud, collusion and cheating. If you are uncertain of the definitions of any of these terms, you should go to the academic integrity website for more information. Consult your instructor(s) if you need any clarification about the requirements of academic integrity in the course.

Late Work and Extensions: if your essay is late, it will be marked down by one third of a letter grade for each day that it is overdue (i.e. a paper that would have received an A will receive a A-). No work will be accepted more than three days late without prior permission. Extensions will be granted only in exceptional circumstances, including documented illness or genuine emergency. You can earn a two-day extension if you work on your paper with a writing coach at the LCC Communication Cube.

Seeking Help Outside Class: you are encouraged to use any form of legitimate aid to help you write papers and research topics that interest you. Obvious sources of legitimate assistance include your tutors, the coaches at the LCC Communication Cube, and the subject librarians at the library. If you work on a paper with a writing coach, you are eligible for a two-day extension. Please speak to me if you would like to take advantage of this!

Generative AI: generative AI (such as ChatGPT) is not designed for research and is inclined to make things up. If you intend to use generative AI for your work in any capacity, you must get written permission from me first. You must follow the university's prevailing policies about how to acknowledge the use of generative AI in your work. Although it can be a useful tool, you must not use it to replace your own thinking or learning
