School of Social Sciences

Preparing our students for a future-ready workforce

The School of Social Sciences (SSS)

is one of the four schools under the College of Humanities, Arts, and Social Sciences (HASS) and is home to research and education in the social sciences.

SSS Undergraduates major in Economics, Psychology, Public Policy and Global Affairs, or Sociology. They can broaden and deepen their knowledge by taking up a Double Major or combining their majors with other subjects offered at SSS as Second Majors or Minors, some of which are offered together with other schools.

To ensure our curriculum remains relevant to current work and skills trends while fulfilling our ideals of teaching and scholarship in the social sciences, SSS has established programmes that enhance and complement the social sciences with subjects such as communications, mathematics, media analytics, and data science.

Our students' skills and competencies are honed through their respective programmes of study, readying them for the world of work.
