NANYANG TECHNOLOGICAL UNIVERSITY SINGAPORE / LEE KONG CHIAN SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

STUDENTS' MEDICAL SOCIETY

LIFE AT LKCMEDICINE, THROUGH A STUDENT'S EYES

STUDENT LIFE AT LKCMEDICINE

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

KENG XIN YI, YEAR FOUR

Hello everyone!

My name is Xin Yi, the current president of the Students' Medical Society (MedSoc).

Embarking on the journey to become a doctor is more than a commitment to academic excellence—it's an opportunity to grow, connect, and make a meaningful difference in the lives of others. At LKCMedicine, we provide the platform for you to do that.

What truly makes LKCMedicine special is our sense of community and teamwork. Whether it's collaborating in clinical settings, sharing breakthroughs in research, or simply supporting one another during challenging times, the spirit of camaraderie here is unparalleled. Beyond academics, our School actively encourages students to pursue their passions and hobbies. Whether it's excelling in sports, engaging in creative pursuits, or exploring other interests, there's a platform for everyone to thrive.

Your journey to becoming a compassionate, forward-thinking doctor starts here. I invite you to explore all that LKCMedicine has to offer, meet our inspiring faculty and students, and envision the limitless opportunities that await you.

Join us in shaping the future of medicine together!

Cheers,
Xin Yi

LEE KONG CHIAN
SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

STUDENTS' MEDICAL SOCIETY

The LKCMedicine Students' Medical Society (LKCMedSoc) is a student-led organisation devoted to enhancing students' university experience at LKCMedicine, and representing their needs and interests.
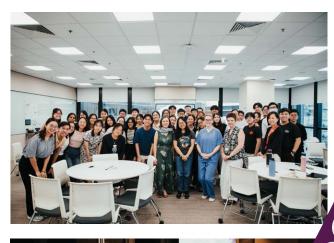

MedSoc initiatives range from events like Surf's Up, Peanut Butter & Jam and the Inter-House Cup to programmes such as Welfare Week and First Class. We also work with local and international partners to conduct student exchanges and work on projects - such as the National Medical Students' Conference - together.

Beyond this, the academic arm of LKCMedSoc facilitates Senior-Junior Teaching sessions and mock exams, providing a strong academic support network for students. Career talks, workshops, and research opportunities are made available to students via MedSoc as well.

For students with an aspiration to make a positive difference, joining an LKCMedSoc Committee is an excellent opportunity to give back to the broader LKCMedicine student community to make student life more enriching and enjoyable.

@LKC.PURPLEANDSILVER · LKCMEDSOC.COM

PEANUT BUT... JAM · SURF'S UP · COMMUNITY SERVICE · CCAS

STUDENT-LED CLUBS

Student-led club activities are a large part of the vibrant student life at LKCMedicine.

We have our very own student-led dance group, LKCrew, and acapella group, MedLee, which aim to create platforms for interested students to meet like-minded people and develop their shared interests.

MedSoc also facilitates student interest groups in a variety of specialties that organise talks, workshops, and research opportunities with senior doctors in fields such as ophthalmology, emergency medicine, public health and much more.

HOUSE SYSTEM

Every student in LKCMedicine is allocated to one of 8 houses, where they are split into individual House Families (or Housefams!) that maintain strong senior-junior lineages - with some students in regular contact with seniors from 5 batches above them. Each student is also allocated a House Tutor - often senior scientists, medical practitioners, or administrators that mentor students throughout their studies.

The House System facilitates relationship-building amongst students as well as between students and tutors, ensuring students develop a sense of belonging and are well-equipped throughout their medical school journey.

ALEXANDER FLEMING   WU LIEN-TEH   JOSEPH LISTER   ROSALIND FRANKLIN   LIM BOON KENG   CYNTHIA GOH   WILLIAM OSLER   MARIE CURIE

STRONG COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

The Community Involvement Programmes (CIPs) at LKCMedicine reach out to a range of underprivileged groups locally and internationally.

29 LCIPS

13 OCIPS

With 29 Local CIPs and 10 Overseas CIPs, students at LKCMedicine serve migrant workers, elderly, international partner NGOs and so much more.

HIMALAYAS - CHIA

EM REAP - DAVAO - BACOLOD - BATA

NOI

" At LKCMedicine, I've had the privilege of volunteering both locally and internationally. With the Neighbourhood Health Service, I collaborate with healthcare students to organisve health screenings for underserved communities. Through Project Chiang Mai, I travel annually to Phrao, Thailand, with a team of doctors to provide health screenings and education for villagers.

These experiences have empowered me to give back, while also developing skills in teamwork, communication, and cultural sensitivity.

PANG YU PING, YEAR TWO

EVENTS

LKCMedSoc hosts a number of highly-anticipated events each year. Ranging from the Dinner and Dance, an evening of elegance and celebration, Surf's Up, our annual beach day, and Peanut Butter and Jam, the yearly music showcase, there's something for everyone!

As part of LKCMedSoc, students take on leadership roles, organize impactful events, and volunteer in community outreach projects, fostering both personal growth and societal impact.

HALL LIVING

All LKCMedicine students are guaranteed accommodation on campus, the first year of which will be in either Crescent or Pioneer Hall.

While living on campus, you will be able to participate in a plethora of hall CCAs, meet people outside LKCMedicine, and create memories that you will look back on fondly.

Students regularly involve themselves with extracurriculars organised by the wider NTU community, allowing them to develop their interests in sports, music, leadership, and much more.

FACILITIES

The LKCMedicine Dual Campus offers a variety of spaces for students to relax, exercise, study, and socialize across both campuses.

Level 8 of the Clinical Sciences Building is dedicated to student spaces such as House Rooms, the Gym, the Music Room, and the Multipurpose Hall. LKCMedicine students regularly use these spaces for curricular activities such as Senior-Junior Teachings, as well as extracurricular ones like dance practices and band rehearsals.

The Medical Libary on Level 20 offers a spacious, conducive environment for quiet studying. It boasts views of the Singapore skyline - and is a favourite among medical students across all years.

@lkc.purpleandsilver
lkcmedsoc.com

Experimental Medicine Building
Nanyang Technological University
Yunnan Garden Campus
59 Nanyang Drive
Singapore 636921

Headquarters and Clinical Sciences Building
Novena Campus
11 Mandalay Road
Singapore 308232