Founder, SPT Advisory

Managing Partner, Eric SP Tan & Co.

Eric Tan is the Founder of SPT Advisory, a Singapore-based firm dedicated to providing independent technical advisory services and financial reporting expertise to public accountants and corporate directors. With over three decades of experience in the accounting profession, Eric has established himself as a leading technical authority, helping firms navigate complex financial reporting standards and professional practice issues.

Eric specialises in financial accounting advisory, risk management, and quality control monitoring. His deep technical expertise is frequently sought after by local public accounting firms, where he serves as a technical advisor and performs critical Hot and Peer reviews to ensure compliance with regulatory standards. Under his leadership, SPT Advisory bridges the gap between complex regulatory requirements and practical audit application, delivering measurable improvements in audit quality and professional excellence.

Beyond consulting, Eric is a prolific educator and thought leader in the accountancy sector. He served as an Associate Professor (Adjunct) at Nanyang Business School for over a decade and has been instrumental in developing core industry resources, including the ISCA Audit Manuals for both Standalone and Group Entities. His commitment to the profession is further reflected in his appointments to various regulatory panels for ACRA and ISCA, where he has contributed to investigation, disciplinary, and quality assurance frameworks.

A former director-level professional with Deloitte Singapore and the Deloitte Global Office, and a proud alumnus of Nanyang Technological University, Eric continues to champion the advancement of the profession. He balances his professional practice with significant community leadership, currently serving as Vice President of The Singapore Association for the Deaf.
